

MW Industries: 40 Years of Excellence Delivers Growth

Forty years ago marked the inception of a dynamic Tool & Die Company started by Peter Mess. With a clear vision for the future, it did not take the company long to expand into a custom manufacturing business for washers, fasteners and metal stampings.

Four decades of excellence in manufacturing, superior customer service, continued strong growth and in-depth industry knowledge has made MW Industries an industry leader. This Houston-based company is one of only a handful of U.S. companies to produce an endless array of custom washers and special fasteners. MW Industries does all this while ensuring traceable materials and a strict adherence to quality control.

“We would like to thank our customers for the successes that MW Industries has achieved over the past 40 years,” said Founder Peter Mess.

This milestone is a testament to MW Industries’ commitment to continued excellence in custom manufacturing and focused energy for the future growth of the company.

Humble beginnings produced a service standard of gratitude that MW Industries passes along to each customer, giving them confidence and assurance.
